

Capture

a journal of my photography

Capture

This month's Capture concentrates on one theme, that being a collection of landscape images that I captured on a trip to Snowdonia in North Wales. Although the weather wasn't always that great I still managed to make some images I really liked. The images presented here aren't necessarily my best work, but are some of my favourites from that trip.

The purpose of Capture is first to showcase some of my work and the second to fine tune my image selecting skills.

I hope you enjoy the images as much as I did creating them.
